

LXM: Better Splittable Pseudorandom Number Generators (and Almost as Fast)

Authors: Guy L. Steele Jr. (Oracle Labs) & Sebastiano Vigna (Università degli Studi di Milano)

This document provides a reference to the academic paper introducing the LXM family of pseudorandom number generators (PRNGs), which combine linear congruential and F2-linear subgenerators with mixing functions to provide robust performance in multithreaded and parallel computing environments.

Link to Original PDF: Download Document via ACM Digital Library